

Indiana Standard British Air Force Kansas Seeks to Oil Fight Reaches Rescues New King Become Dry State Huge Proportions Of Afghanistan

(Col. Stewart Arrives in New York) But Denies Visit Was Connection With Fight Being Waged by Rockefeller, Jr.—Latter Being Helped by Father—Gets Other Support.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, arriving in New York this morning, said that his main business here was in connection with the internal affairs of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, of which he is chairman, and that his visit had "no connection whatever" with the Rockefeller fight to remove him from the leadership.

Asked whether he expected a close contest Stewart said:

"No one can forecast that at this time, the organization is behind me and the board of directors is behind me. This is a very strong argument in my favor.

"I prefer not to say definitely that the directors resent Mr. Rockefeller's attitude, but I will say that they are strongly in favor of me."

Commenting on the report in today's New York Times to the effect that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., had come to the aid of his son, Stewart said he would not believe the report until he had seen "unquestionable proof."

Asked if he was here to get proxies, Colonel Stewart replied: "Absolutely not."

Rockefeller, Sr., Uses Influence.

The New York Times says today that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has brought his powerful influence to the aid of his son in the fight to oust Colonel Stewart from the chairmanship of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Aroused by the attitude of Colonel Stewart, which he considers an affront, the paper says, the elder Rockefeller has entered the fight so definitely that his associates may assume active charge of the battle being waged between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Stewart.

The entrance of the father into the fray was regarded in Wall Street as a factor that might determine the outcome of the struggle for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Numerous brokerage houses, insurance companies and other holders of Indiana stock, which heretofore have been inclined to be neutral, are expected to rally to the Rockefeller interests because of the senior Rockefeller's influence.

Aid From Alien Property Custodian. Washington, Jan. 18 (AP).—Aid for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in his fight to oust Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, has come from Howard E. Sutherland, alien property custodian.

Mr. Sutherland, by virtue of his office holds the voting power of between 12,000 and 13,000 shares of Standard Oil Company of Indiana stock, the property of Germans seized during the war, and he has announced he has assigned the voting proxies to Mr. Rockefeller.

Mr. Rockefeller asked for the voting power about a week ago. Before Mr. Sutherland made his decision a similar request came from Mr. Stewart. The alien property custodian made his decision known yesterday.

The clash between the two capitalists is one of the many ramifications growing out of the oil leases made by the government. Mr. Stewart's testimony before a senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome oil lease did not please Mr. Rockefeller, and he asked for Stewart's resignation. This Stewart has refused to give.

There are more than 9,000,000 shares of $25 par value stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana outstanding.

DEMOCRATIC CONTRIBUTORS WANT SPEECHES FOR CASH

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—The radio office of Alfred E. Smith for contributions to wipe out the $1,500,000 deficit of the Democratic party has brought an avalanche of checks and pledges of funds.

Hundreds of letters, accompanied by checks ranging from $5 to $100, and telegrams promising checks to follow by mail have been received by Mr. Smith, John J. Raskob, national chairman, and James W. Gerard, treasurer of the national committee. No attempt has been made to total the amount received.

Virtually every contributor has requested from one to 100 copies of the book containing Mr. Smith's campaign speeches, which he announced would be given each contributor of $2 or more who requested it.

Former King Gathering Support for Attempt to Recover Lost Throne—Former Queen, About to Become a Mother, Has Dramatic Escape From Rebels.

New Delhi, India, Jan. 18 (AP).—Inayatullah, King of Afghanistan for a few days, and members of his household have been evacuated from Kabul by British Air Force planes. The party reached Peshawar enroute to Kandahar, where Inayatullah's predecessor and brother, the former King Amanullah is.

The evacuation was effected by arrangement with the new Emir, Habibullah Khan.

London, Jan. 18 (AP).—Advices from Karachi, India, today said former King Amanullah of Afghanistan was gathering support from southern Afghans for an attempt to recover his lost throne from the water carrier who became king, Habibullah Khan. One incentive presumably is his expectation of an heir.

Amanullah, after his abdication in Kabul reached Kandahar in the south of Afghanistan and raised the Royal standard over the Palace there, indicating that he still considered himself a factor in the situation. He seemed to be in authority over the section and it was reported that he also had the support of Ghazni.

Persons familiar with Afghanistan today expressed doubts whether Amanullah would be able to move against Kabul before spring. In Kabul, Habibullah held sway, having taken the throne from Inayatullah, elder brother of Amanullah, who became ruler after Amanullah's abdication.

Even if Habibullah continued to enjoy freedom from attack by Amanullah, it was reported that he might meet trouble from rebels in the Jalalabad area. That neighborhood was under the control of Ali Ahmad Khan, former Governor of Kabul and the man to whom Amanullah deputized the tasks of making terms with the rebellious Shinwari tribes. The rebels from the Jalalabad District were stated to be rushing toward Kabul to demand a share in the loot.

Perfect order was said to prevail in Kabul with foreign legations, missions and institutions guarded by rebels, whose attitude toward the foreigners is quite friendly.

The Daily Express said that Amanullah and former Queen Souraya, who is about to become a mother, had a dramatic escape from Kabul after it was surrounded by the rebels. Disguised and under cover of night, they left the citadel and threaded their way through the rebel lines to the open country. Then they had to travel more than 300 miles to Kandahar. How they managed to do it without being recognized and molested was not learned.

Ryan and Former Mrs. Rea Wed

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Thomas Fortune Ryan, 2nd, grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier, and the former Mrs. Margaret Moorehead Rea were on a secret honeymoon today after a surprise marriage at the Municipal Building.

They appeared at the marriage license bureau shortly before it closed yesterday accompanied by two friends, obtained a license and were married immediately by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise in his office.

Mrs. John Barry Ryan, mother of the bridegroom, said she knew nothing of the marriage or where her son was.

"If my son is married I don't know anything about it and I positively have nothing to say," Mr. Ryan said. "He is not here and I don't know where he is."

Mr. Ryan, who gave his age as 29, and his occupation as rancher, is a member of an old and prominent Roman Catholic family. His father, John Barry Ryan, inherited approximately one-fifth of the estate left by Thomas Fortune Ryan, estimated from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000.

The bride is the daughter of the late John Moorehead, Jr., and member of a family that has figured in the steel industry. Her marriage to Henry O. Rea, son of a cousin of the former president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was a social event in Pittsburgh in 1922. She obtained a divorce from Rea in Pittsburgh last year. In her license application she gave her age as 29.

Roselle, N. J., Jan. 18 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. Horace R. Benedict lost their lives in a fire which destroyed their home here early today.

Miss Helen Benedict, a daughter, escaped by leaping from the roof of a porch, while Miss Agnes H. Home, sister of Mrs. Benedict, made her way to safety through a rear winged.

A horse was rescued unconscious from the kitchen.

Benedict was a member of H. R. Benedict & Sons, dealers in precious stones. New York, and formerly a member of Benedict & Benedict.

Voted Beer Dry in 1881, But Having More Trouble With Enforcement Since Prohibition Became National Law—Residents Being Called "Beer State".

Topeka, Kansas, Jan. 18 (AP).—Stringent efforts to dry up Kansas, where state prohibition has been in effect for nearly a half century, have been inaugurated under the leadership of the new chief executive, Governor Clyde M. Reed. The state capital already has felt the crusade.

Haiding squads of federal and state prohibition officers launched into action here Wednesday and for arrests were made. Announcement followed that raiding would continue until the town was dried up.

Given assurance that the legislature was ready to take up his proposal for a special fund of $40,000 to be expended under his direction for dry work, the executive has turned to the state law enforcement machinery to put his ideas into effect.

Following a lengthy conference with the governor yesterday, Attorney General William A. Smith directed personal letters to all county attorneys advising them that they were expected vigorously to enforce the prohibition laws.

The governor appealed to the legislature for funds immediately following his inaugural week. His message was almost coincident with publication in a national magazine of an article calling Kansas a "beer state," a designation which has been resented.

Governor Reed himself declared conditions were not as bad as pictured in the article, which referred to Kansas as one of the wettest states in the union.

"We undoubtedly are having more trouble with the enforcement of the prohibition law, considering the state as a whole, than we had before prohibition became a national law," he said. "It is for that reason I am moving in the direction of increased activity on the part of the state administration for law enforcement."

Kansas voted itself dry in 1881, being preceded only by Maine in declaring for prohibition.

Wets and Drys Criticize Mellon

Indignation Displayed Following Secretary's Opposition to $25,000,000 Appropriation Because A Dry Not Definitely State Where Money Would Be Used.

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP).—The vote on the proposal by Senator Harris of Georgia, a dry, for an additional $25,000,000 for prohibition enforcement was pending today, and in its wake was discussion linked with the acrimony that has been characteristic when the subject of liquor has arisen in congress during the last few years.

Secretary Mellon ordinarily comes in for criticism and also for defense when the Volstead Act or the Eighteenth Amendment is brought up, but yesterday his share was mostly criticism.

A letter from former Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, which said the treasury head "was utterly unfit to have charge of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment," was read into the record.

Mr. Mellon had expressed himself as opposed to the $25,000,000 appropriation because it did not definitely stipulate where the money was to be used. Wets and drys and Democrats and Republicans alike took verbal shots at the secretary and in the midst of discussion, Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, referring to Secretary Mellon, remarked: "It might be best to go slow on the criticism, or the new President will not be able to reappoint him."

The Senate seemed ready to vote on Senator Harris's proposal when Senator Jones of Washington, a dry, put a substitution motion which would reduce the amount to $12,500,000. This would be spent in disseminating information in favor of law enforcement and to increase the number of field workers in the prohibition bureau.

CHINA AND JAPAN REACH AGREEMENT ON TRAFFIC

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP).—The foreign minister announced to the cabinet today that an agreement had been reached in tariff negotiations between China and Japan.

Japan is the last of the powers having interests in China to reach an agreement with the Nationalists on tariff. Previously the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, and Italy among other nations had granted China tariff autonomy.

Trucks Damaged In Collision.

Drivers escaped injury but the Matthews truck was considerably damaged. Driving was a difficult task Thursday afternoon and evening.

The rain and sleet which fell during the afternoon and evening froze the sidewalks and made it difficult to see the road.

Three Leaders for Morgan, Young, Perkins Named Republican Party In New York State

State Chairman Macboid, William H. Hill and National Committee Chairman Hill to Have Political Authority for Next Four Years—Will Pass on Political Patronage.

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP).—Placement of Republican political authority in New York state during the next four years in the hands of three leaders was announced today by H. Edmund Macboid, State Committee chairman after he and William H. Hill and Ogden L. Mills, under Secretary of the Treasury, had a breakfast conference with President-elect Hoover.

Besides Macboid and Hill the third member of the group will be Charles D. Hillis, National Committee member, who conferred with Hoover earlier in the week. Macboid is to represent the group in most negotiations with the new President. He said that the three would agree upon recommendations for appointments for Federal office before names were submitted to Hoover for his consideration.

Hillis was head of the independent Hoover for President organization in New York state and the agreement on the handling of patronage was regarded as somewhat of a victory for him. Macboid became state chairman in the last campaign after the death of George Morris.

Under Secretary Mills said the purpose of the Hoover conferences with New York leaders was to reconcile individuals rather than factions. He added that cabinet appointments were not discussed.

Hoover Wants Party Strengthened. Because both of the Senators from New York are Democrats, Mr. Hoover was obliged to look elsewhere for recommendations concerning patronage. Usually the national committee of a state is relied upon largely in such situations but in the interest of party harmony this plan has been departed from in this instance.

Beyond the patronage question, however, Hoover is interested in strengthening party lines in the Empire State with a view to restoring the whole state government to the Republican party.

This matter was discussed at some length during the conference. Mills said afterwards that any reported differences in New York were "purely superficial" and that the conferences Mr. Hoover has had with the state leaders would insure harmony.

Hillis is a veteran leader in Republican affairs in New York state, having served as national committee chairman in New York during the previous campaign. He was one of the group of national leaders who held out the hope almost to the last that President Coolidge could be drafted for renomination.

4 Killed, 300 Hurt in Double Collision

Aberdeen, Md., Jan. 18 (AP).—Four trainmen were killed and more than 300 passengers bruised or slightly injured in a double collision on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Short Lane, near here, late yesterday.

A local bound from Baltimore to Philadelphia crashed into the rear of a northbound freight, the lights of which were believed to have been blotted out by a heavy fog. The impact hurled three of the freight cars on to the southbound track. An express bound from New York to Washington ploughed into the derailed cars, and its first four Pullman coaches turned over. The local was derailed.

Passengers in the coaches and Pullmans broke window panes and scrambled to freedom. None was seriously hurt.

A brakeman on the freight train, a freight flagman, the express trainman and the express engineer were killed.

The local engineer was seriously scalped by steam.

No Coasting on City Streets

Coasting on city streets is prohibited by a state law, which was passed to prevent the large number of accidents resulting from that sport. Children using the streets for sledding purposes will be arrested as the local police have no alternative under the state law, unless the common council passes an ordinance designating certain streets and providing protection for the children.

Selected by Reparations Commission to Attend Conference in Paris—United States Delegations Go in LaSalle Capacity.

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP).—J. P. Morgan, head of the powerful banking house of J. P. Morgan and Company, and Owen D. Young, former agent general for reparations payments and chairman of the General Electric Company, have been named to attend the conference on German reparations in Paris. Thomas Nelson Perkins, Boston lawyer and former citizen member of the reparations commission, was chosen as an alternate.

The selections, expected for several days, were made by the reparations commission. Sir Home Howard, British ambassador called at the State Department yesterday to officially advise Secretary Kellogg of the appointments. Both Mr. Morgan and Mr. Young are expected to accept, though the General Electric chairman has said that he might be prevented from attending because of the illness of his wife.

He has been mentioned as probable chairman of the conference, which is expected to meet in Paris early in February.

The United States delegations will go in an unofficial capacity, as the administration has made it plain that it considers the reparations problem a European one. Mr. Young, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Perkins in the event they attend, will occupy much the same position as Mr. Young, Charles G. Dawes and Henry M. Robinson, California lawyer and banker, occupied when they attended the Paris reparations conference four years ago. Technically they will go as appointees of the allied governments concerned.

The American representatives will meet with twelve other representatives of the governments of France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Japan and Germany.

Kills Officer Who Broke Into Room

Socially Prominent Philadelphia Believed to Have Become Crazy When Told by Physician His Condition Necessitated Removal to Sanitarium.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18 (AP).—Firing point blank at a police officer who broke through the barricaded door of his home in the Chestnut Hill section, W. Griffen Gribbel, 46, socially prominent, early today shot and killed John W. Blackburn, police inspector, wounded Blackburn's chauffeur and himself fell critically wounded under the fire of other police officers.

Mrs. Gribbel and her six children cowered behind a locked door in a room on the lower floor where they had retreated when Gribbel had confronted them brandishing a revolver. Police said they believed Gribbel had become crazed when informed by a physician that his condition necessitated his removal to a sanitarium.

Police Officer Oscar Miller was summoned to the Gribbel home by a neighbor who said that Gribbel had barricaded himself in a bedroom and was shouting defiance at any person to "come and get him."

Miller called for help and Blackburn, with his chauffeur, Joseph Lawrence, and several other police responded.

Seeing them arrive Gribbel, according to the police, leaped from his upstairs bedroom window, and dared the officers to come after him. Blackburn called back, "We're coming right up."

Blackburn mounted the stairway and hacked his way into the room with an ax. As he did so Gribbel shot him through the heart.

Lawrence ran up the stairway to his chief's aid and received a bullet wound above the heart. He is expected to live. Other officers then fired and Gribbel fell with blood pouring from wounds in his leg, arm and the stomach. He is in a critical condition at a hospital where all three were taken.

FIRE IN TERPENING ICE HOUSE ON ABEL STREET

About 10 o'clock Thursday evening the fire department was called out by an alarm from Box 27 for a fire in the ice house of the Terpening Ice Cream Company at 142 Abel street. Somewhat in one corner of the building had caught fire from an unknown cause and the fire was burning brightly when the firemen arrived. The fire was soon under control and the damage to the building was slight.

SEVENTH BOMB EXPLOSION OF THE YEAR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP).—A dynamite bomb exploded in the hallway of a six-story building on the West Side shortly after midnight today, tearing a hole in the floor. None of the persons living in the building were hurt, though the entire structure was shaken. Anthony Panicki, owner, blamed labor troubles.

It was the seventh bomb of the year in Chicago.

No Diphtheria Deaths In City During 1928

Sets Record Over Period of Ten Years and Due Largely to Free Clinics Held by Health Board—Wandering Dog, Apparently Without an Owner, Greatest Public Health Nuisance of Year Here.

There was not a single death from diphtheria reported in Kingston during 1928, according to the annual report of the health board, which was made available to the public today. This was due largely to the fact that a series of free diphtheria clinics have been held under the auspices of the health board for the summing up of town anti-toxin. Over five thousand children have been immunized from the disease in the city due to the use of this preventative serum.

The reports of the officers of the board show that during the past year there were 702 births and 595 deaths in the city.

The report of Health Officer Loughran on general health conditions in the city during the year is of interest to every resident of Kingston.

The report is as follows:

Annual Report of Health Officer.

The health activities of the city during the year has been carried on with the following results as will be seen in the reports.

The number of cases of communicable diseases among children has been larger than usual and the infant mortality is higher than it should be. Both matters we should exert ourselves to correct. The first should be the prompt reporting of cases of communicable diseases by the attending physician or the head of the household when there is no physician in attendance. I am sorry to say this is not done in many cases and we have no knowledge whatever unless coming to us through other channels. If we knew of the cases at the start contacts could be isolated and many cases and deaths could be prevented.

It is not commonly realized, however, a large toll is exacted by the so-called minor preventable diseases of childhood, chiefly measles and whooping cough. Prevention and protection from these would obviate many serious results which later appear in adult life. On the whole we may say that the group of communicable diseases is almost preventable.

We can happily say that not a single death from diphtheria occurred in the city during 1928. Over a period of more than ten years this is the first year without a death. This excellent record cannot be maintained unless parents continue the interest in the toxin-antitoxin clinics that they have shown in the past. The clinics are held every Monday from 3 to 4 p. m. at the board of health rooms.

Infant mortality is one of the greatest public health problems of today. It has been imperfectly understood, organized efforts being largely those of private philanthropy. It must be associated with health authorities and other social agencies. Of the deaths occurring in the early days of life, a large proportion are the results of conditions existing before birth.

You will see that the larger rate occurred before one month of age, showing there was some defect in the mother rather than in the child. We cannot urge too strongly that all expectant mothers establish the habit of a frequent regular pre-natal examination, either by their family physician or their obstetrician. They can have their plans laid out for them that will be beneficial both to mother and child.

Many conditions that may be found can be corrected either prenatally or postnatally. These latter constitute the control of malnutrition and the raising of the standards of cleanliness and of sterility nursing. If babies are well born and well cared for their mortality would be negligible.

During the summer of 1928 there was a shortage of milk which caused much dissatisfaction among many others, but with us, as water is so essential to health. We have at the board of health a Water Department which have supplied us with water sufficient for many years to come and depending upon the rainfall and the purity and best.

As milk and water are two of the greatest causes of illness, the state established a new milk code on July 1, 1928, under its provisions the sale for human consumption of milk and cream has been placed under adequate restrictions. It imposes upon milk producers increased expense in labor and equipment but it is justified as it contributes to the safeguarding of the public health. The burden of enforcement of these regulations is placed upon local health officers and they, being sensible men who are in close touch with those who produce and sell milk and are acquainted with their practices and problems, have in mind the simple purpose of making the milk supply safe thereby promoting public health. The laboratory reports greatly increased demands for bacteriological counts making it necessary the employment of additional help.

Heimerle Heads C. of C. Here

Superintendent of Kingston Branch of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Elected President Thursday Evening—A. W. Spruck is Secretary.

The board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce met Thursday evening at the rooms on Broadway and organized for the year by electing Frank Heimerle, superintendent of the Kingston branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as president. Mr. Spruck has been serving as secretary since the start of the year. Mr. Spruck succeeds Louis S. Coo, who resigned as secretary last September to accept a position in New York city.

The board also discussed many matters of interest relative to the industrial affairs of the city. The report of the treasurer showed that there is a balance of about $2,000 in the treasury.

Six Injured in Detroit Explosion

Detroit, Jan. 18 (AP).—Six persons were injured seriously and a furniture store, a motion picture theatre, a grocery and a restaurant were destroyed by an explosion here early today. The damage was estimated at $150,000. No one was killed.

Police believe the blast was planned as reprisal for the fatal shooting of an Italian marcher in a Columbus Day parade here last October.

Two of the injured are under police guard in a hospital for questioning and a third man found hiding in the vicinity is under arrest. Detectives said the blast was caused by gasoline.

WOMAN POSED 60 YEARS AS MAN; HOME TOWN NEVER KNEW

Worked With Men, Associated With Men and Looked and Acted
Like a Man.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—For the past sixty years Charles Warner, eighty-two, has been employed as a painter, paperhanger and decorator in Saratoga Springs. Warner worked with men, associated with men, looked and acted like a man, smoked cigars and drank beer in public places where men gathered in the pre-Prohibition days.

It became known recently that "he" is a woman. The news came from the State Hospital for the Insane at Utica, where Warner was taken several days ago. Several times during the past year Warner told friends that she was a woman, but having known her as a man for more than a generation they believed she was showing weakening mentality resulting from age.

Freely admitting the deception she had practiced so many years Warner, who told officials she preferred to be known as Jane, said she was born to an unnamed Saratoga Springs woman, who took her to Canada, where she lived during her early childhood. Her mother married and the husband was kept in ignorance of her existence.
After his death she took the child,
then nearly twenty, back to Saratoga Springs.

"When I was about twenty," said the woman, "I decided I was almost at the end of my rope. I had no money, and a woman's wages sixty years ago were not enough to keep me alive. I looked around and saw men getting more money and more work, and more money for the same kind of work women were doing. I decided to become a man. I just put on men's clothes and applied for a man's job. I got it, and got good money for those times, so I stuck to it."

Moon's Movements

The Naval observatory says that the moon does not revolve in the plane of the earth's equator, but in a plane inclined to the plane of the equator at an angle that varies approximately from 18 to 29 degrees. In any month the moon may be seen at least 18 degrees south of the celestial equator, and after two weeks at least 18 degrees north of the celestial equator.
In some years, as 1918 for instance, the moon may be seen nearly 29 degrees south of the celestial equator.
The moon's rapid northerly progress occurs about one week later than its farthest south, and about one week earlier than its farthest north.

Shark Good Eating

Shark meat has grown in favor among the native population of Bermuda until it is now their favorite delicacy.

More than 200 kinds of fish can be caught in the warm waters around Bermuda and all are edible. Fishermen find, however, that young sharks are most in demand. These average about four feet in length and are caught alive just beyond the six-mile coral reef that surrounds the islands.

CANADA AND VOLSTEAD LAW

It could hardly have been expected that the anti-smuggling conference at Ottawa would come to anything. The American representatives disclaimed any intention to ask Canada to assist in enforcing the Volstead law, but, in effect, that is what they did ask and that appears to have been what they were sent for. The Americans proposed that Canada refuse clearance papers to shipments of liquor destined for the United States, which amounted to a request that Canadian custom law be changed in order to aid in the enforcement of prohibition in this country. This made it necessary for the Canadian authorities to put to themselves and answer the following question: When one country makes contraband a commodity which other countries legalize, is the enforcement of its law a matter for its own responsibility or has it the right to ask and expect cooperation of other friendly countries with different laws and different views?

A negative answer was inevitable. The Canadian spokesmen impressively reminded the American that in the matter of intoxicating liquors all Canada—with the exception of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—has a different public policy from that of the United States, and that the policy of each was adopted without reference to that of the other. It was submitted that Canada had already done what it could within reason, its spokesmen pointing to a list of legislative and administrative actions, affecting and restricting the liquor traffic with this country, taken by their government since the treaty of 1924. The head of the American delegation estimated that liquor valued at $30,000,000 wholesale comes into this country from Canada annually retailing over here for not less than $100,000,000—and in addition an enormous quantity of which there is no record. But such figures merely convey an idea of the task, in the interests of an American law, which Canada, with a directly contrary law, is asked to undertake.

A GESTURE OF GOOD-WILL.

That is all the treaty to renounce war appears to be, particularly after it has been further emasculated by "interpretation" in the Senate with a view to still objection from members urging reservations. "The only thing the treaty pledges us to do," Mr. Borah assured them, "is to endeavor to settle our controversies by peaceful means." As any sane nation is these times would "endeavor" to do that in any case, how can such a treaty be regarded as more than a mere gesture of good will? "Every nation," Mr. Borah explained further, "has the right to determine what is self-defense. That is a weakness in this treaty, but it is a weakness inherent in human nature."

This "weakness" was indirectly pointed out by Mr. Hughes when he said recently to the delegates of the Pan-American Conference: "It is quite obvious that it is not sufficient to renounce war unless we are ready to have recourse to the processes of peace." In other words, if nations merely promise to "endeavor," thus really binding themselves to nothing, their so-called achievement is merely an endorsement of peaceable adjustments in theory only, with no guarantee whatever of practical results.

A LUCKY CRITIC.

Variety, leading theatrical weekly, publishes an occasional box score of dramatic critics' achievements. The score attempts to estimate as accurately as possible the ability of a critic to judge a play from the box-office standpoint—to predict whether the production is a success or a failure, judged solely on its appeal to the general public. The critics, of course, see the plays on their opening nights, before the public has had a chance to express its opinion by increasing patronage or by increasing indifference. The other day Variety's said-season-score gave first place to St. John Ervine, English playwright and critic who has been visiting this country and acting as temporary "guest critic" for the New York World. Ervine had reviewed 42 shows, giving 14 correct verdicts and only one wrong one. His percentage was 76. His closest competitor had a percentage of 74.

It looks as if the Englishman were either very lucky in his guesses or very shrewd in his understanding of the American public and what it will pay its money to see. Native critics ought to do as well, or better, but perhaps they lack the freshness of the points of the visitor.

Instead of growing what in the Canadian Northwest Mr. F. J. T. Perceval will now sit in the House of Lords as the tenth Earl of Erskine, he having succeeded to the title, although only a distant cousin of the late Earl. In the view of the third-rate British novelist, the Alberta farmer has now achieved the summit of human bliss, but will he really be any happier? To be sure, he can now acquire Lady Somebody who previously would have turned him down, but such proud acquisition may have its drawbacks.

Europe has shown no inclination to adopt American prohibition, but in large part has received the American cocktail with open arms. The latter in London, for example, is said to be "both fashionable and expensive."

PREVENTING GALL STONES.

One of the little points that used to bother me as a student was why the gall bladder was so small. As it was meant to carry a reserve of bile, why wasn't it a good size because the amount of bile needed in 24 hours would fill the gall bladder many times? And then I learned that the gall bladder lining was fashioned with tucks, like the intestine, which absorbed the water from the bile and left the solid portions.

Thus the gall bladder can store from 10 to 20 times as much as otherwise would be possible. Or as Dr. Lester Whitaker tells us "it is like pressing hay into bales before putting it in the barn; a smaller barn is required."

Now when your stomach empties its contents into intestine the gall bladder empties its contents—the bile—in on this food in order to help digest it, or put it into condition to be absorbed from the small intestine by the blood.

Various things can interfere with the emptying of the gall bladder and one of these is any emotional disturbance such as fear or anxiety. You know that a good appetizing meal can be suddenly spoiled for you by some emotional disturbance. You don't want to eat; in fact you can't eat.

Now if this bile does not get emptied from gall bladder owing to these emotional disturbances, the bile becomes more and more of a thick solid nature and tends to the formation of gall stones. Overeating, by disturbing the natural processes of digestion, interferes with or prevents the emptying of the gall bladder and helps to thicken up bile.

ADDED TO THIS OFTEN IS SOME INFECTION FROM TEETH OR TONSILS WHICH INFLAMES THE WALLS OF THE GALL BLADDER AND PREVENTS IT FROM EMPTYING PROPERLY.

So common has the sluggish liver and gall bladder become that many individuals are now using a fine rubber tube which they put down the throat and it goes past stomach to beginning of small intestine. Epsom salts is poured down this and in a few minutes the individual lies down with head lower than body, and the Epsom salts with bile, is drained out. However not eating much when mentally disturbed, cutting down on rich foods such as pork, tongue, goose, duck, pastry and alcohol, and giving the liver and gall bladder regular squeezing by bending or deep breathing exercises, will prevent disturbances in the gall bladder.

No Diphtheria Deaths in City

which has been promptly furnished. The greatest nuisance we have had with us this year seems to have been the "Wandering Dog," apparently without any owner, especially when they have bitten anyone. No one claims them. We are still under rather quarantine of the state requiring all dogs being muzzled or on a leash when on the streets. The board of health is distressed by the apathy of the people and have made every endeavor to have owners realize their responsibility. We are in hopes of having a more stringent law so the board can obtain better enforcement.

As time rolls along, each day brings to our attention the future disposal of our garbage, the quantity is increasing each month with the growing of our city and it has grown to such an amount at the present time that its placement is getting to be a serious question. We are depending upon the farmers adjoining the city for their good nature in letting us dispose of it on their farms at times much to their displeasure and inconvenience. Our city dumping places are getting to be a nuisance to the community in their locations and it is only a question of time when some radical changes will have to be made. Why not begin now to prepare for that change and make our city an up-to-date one as it is in all other respects as to residential, cleanliness, air and water. I refer to an incineration or reducing plant; it destroys wastes by fire. The mixed refuse of cities contains much combustible material and it is readily disposed of by incineration. From a sanitary standpoint, incineration affords an excellent method of garbage destruction, besides the byproducts from these plants can be sold and help pay for expenses of the same.

I wish to call your attention to the loss sustained by the city in the death of Dr. Daniel Connolly, who died March 22, 1928. He was appointed health officer July 10, 1923. During his years of service in the department his genial disposition and many fine qualities endeared him to all members of the staff and won him a host of friends among the workers in the city.

Kidney Ailments and Agonizing Rheumatic Pains Soon Relieved

Ravine Street Lady Suffered From Backache, Rheumatism And Other Ailments Tells How She Got Relief.

Ravine Street lady highly pleased with splendid relief obtained by using the new medicine which is being introduced in Kingston at McBride Drug Store.

"For several years I have suffered from rheumatism of my joints and muscles which I believe were caused by kidney trouble as I had a continual aching pain across my back and my kidneys showed other signs of weakness," said Mrs. Charles Brannigan, 12 Ravine street, Kingston, N.Y. "The rheumatism brought about a sharp pain through my joints and muscles and they would become terribly swollen and stiff. At times it was almost impossible for me to get about my work because of this trouble. I was also bothered a lot with dizzy spells, dark spots floating before my eyes and I continually suffered from splitting headaches. I became extremely nervous, irritable and couldn't stand the least noise around the house. I slept poorly at night and would awaken in the morning with a tired worn out feeling and no ambition.

"I tried many medicines but they all failed to help me until I started using Nu-Erb about a month ago. This splendid medicine was the first to ever relieve these troubles for me and I believe everyone who has similar kidney trouble should try it. I rarely ever have a pain or ache now. My kidneys are apparently in good condition and the rheumatism has practically disappeared. Not only that, but I am no longer bothered with dizzy spells, spots before my eyes, headaches or constipation from which I suffered for many years. My

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

This is a lovely world, in spite of the winter days in the northland of the country. There are many lovely things in the world—there are lovely people, there are lovely flowers—the pink roses, with their beautiful buds in effect, but of the winter, but of the United States.

Grace J. Austin, and other fashions are coming back and they are poetic indeed. Think how lovely those southern belles of Civil war days were—at least, think of them as you have seen them in the "movies"—with their spreading stiff skirts all dotted with pictured flower clusters.

Dame Fashion saw an adorable plaited sports skirt the other day where bright bronze red chrysanthemums peeped in and out of the folds. One of these new bright hard leather jackets that Paris is said to be devoted to would be effective, worn with a skirt like that, which, of course, has its own harmonizing silk and wool sweater in vicinities of gaiety.

Over in India for years and centuries perhaps, women have been handlooming designs on the cloth that came from the handlooms of the Orient. Black print work in scarfs, and an occasional touch of it upon gowns has now been fashionable for some time. They are reporting from the Pacific coast, subtly nearer to the far East in many things than the Atlantic shore, that velvet gowns adorned all over with black print designs done by hand are being shown.

Every once in a while that word "peplum" appears in fashion notes. It has a delightfully classic sound, and indeed comes right from the Latin tongue. Good old Noah Webster, who is not such a bad fashion authority after all, declares it is an "overshirt hanging down, or a fitted skirt attached to a waist or coat." That is precisely what it is, and New York is adding a line of fur to some of these elongated ruffles down from the waist. But to Dame Fashion a peplum is a good deal like the little girl with a curl; on some types of figure it may be very, very good—but if it proves to be "horrid," it can be very horrid indeed.

King Tut-Ankh-Amen, long centuries dead in Egypt, probably does not realize to how many he is bringing pleasure in this winter season. For the new Egyptian jewelry follows quite closely many of the patterns found in the long-closed sarcophagus of King Tut. There are triangles and geometrical colorings which you might hastily glance at and call "modernistic," but with another look you get the subtle thrill that takes you back and back to the ages when pyramids and sphinxes were new.

It does seem as though some kindly fate arranged that a metal-jewelry winter should go hand in hand with a velvet winter. For the glitter from gold sparkles and triangles sets off velvet remarkably well. And how delightful it is for the majority of us that we can get a surprising amount of happy glittering and rich effects with only a few dollars expenditure—and think how little anxiety about hold-up men!

Charming Sports Model of Blue Crepe de Chine

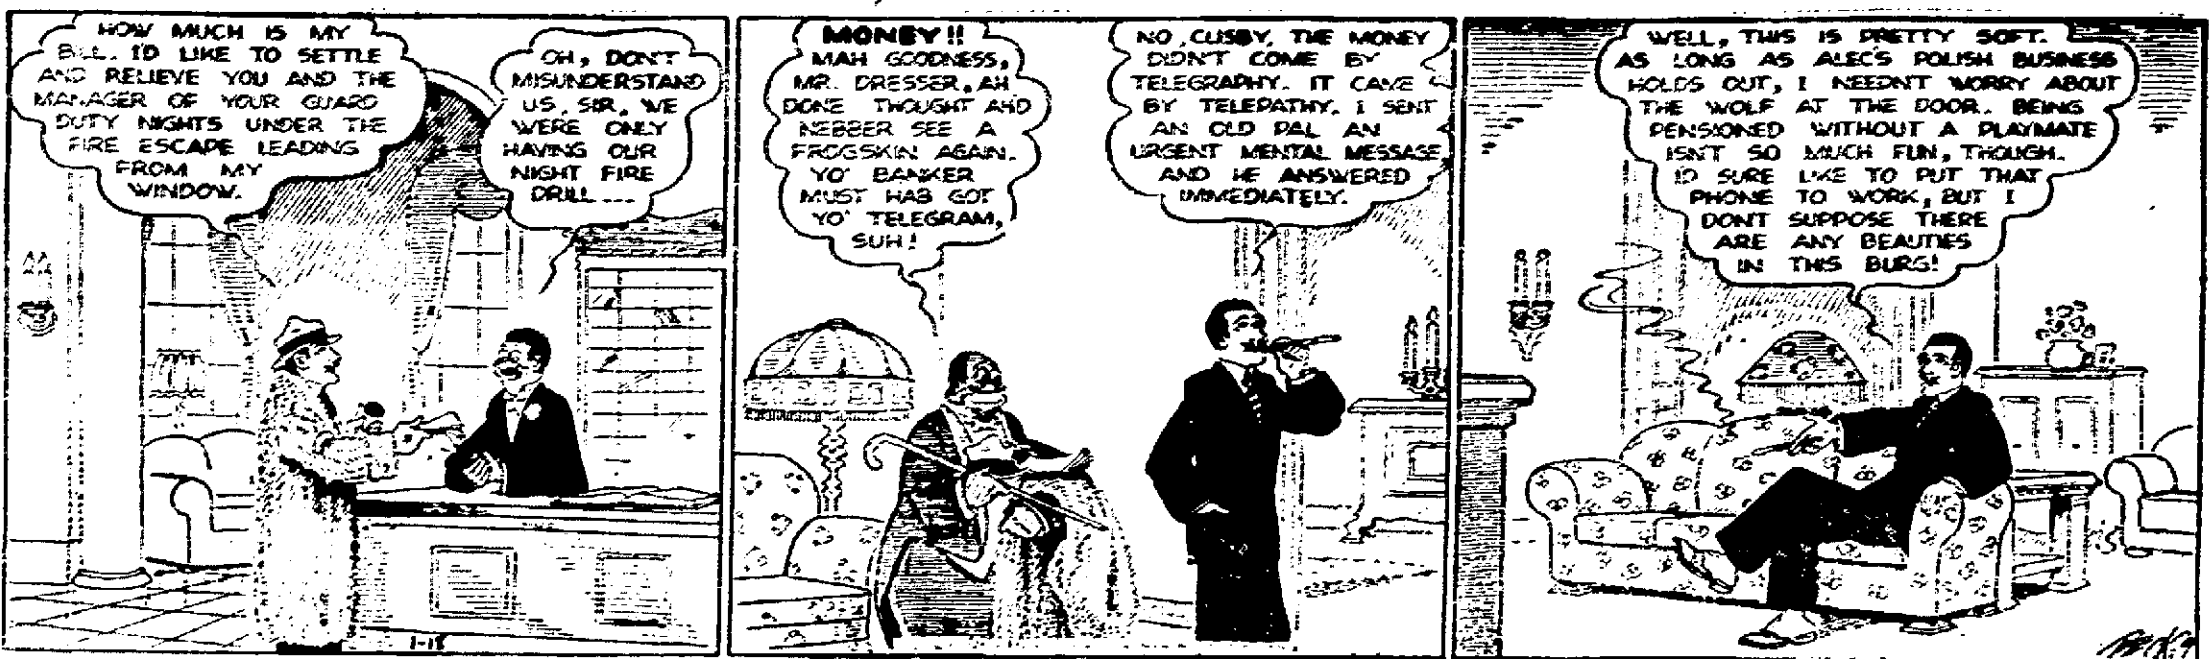

One of the latest arrivals from Paris is a sports model which features the hula-hula skirt effect. It is built of navy blue crepe de chine, with a strange figured plaited skirt, giving the effect of the Hawaiian straw skirts.

New Bag of Blue and White Following the vogue for blue, an envelope bag is made of tiny bands of white and blue leather interlaced to form a checked pattern. The fastening, on the side, is of the slide variety.

6335. Printed voile and organdy are combined in this attractive model. Extensions that simulate a vest, outline the fronts of the waist and form a collar at the V neckline and over the back. The waist portions are lengthened by full gathered skirt sections trimmed with roomy pockets. Zephyr, gingham, and percale, also dainty may be used for this design. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38 inch size as illustrated in the large view will require 3½ yards of 36 inch material, together with ¾ yard of contrasting material for facings on the fronts, collar, sleeve, belt, and pockets. The width of the skirt at the lower edge with fullness extended is 2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

The "beauty diet" that made her ugly

SHE was one girl who was going to stay attractive—so she watched her "beauty diet." But, all the time, she was missing something every diet should have. In the dishes she so carefully selected there was scarcely any roughage. Constipation gained a foothold. Soon, her charm, her strength—the very youth she thought to protect—were paying the price!

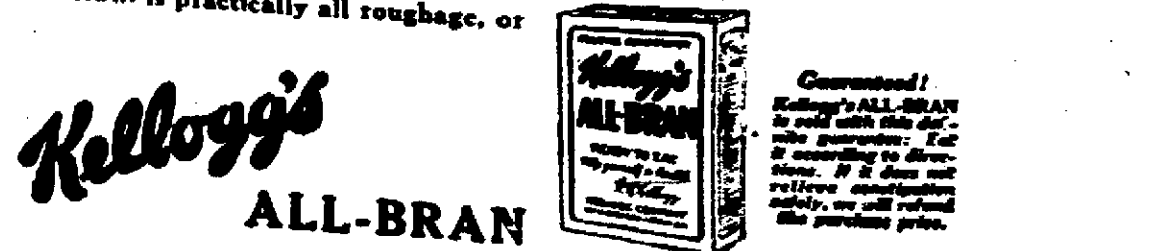

Thousands of women and men are paying the price of soft, fibreless meals. Many are dieting—and yet they defeat their own purposes because constipation continues to poison the system. No other evil is more widespread. It may start with aching heads and blemished cheeks. It often ends with serious trouble and disease.

And more's the pity when it can be so easily prevented by means of a simple cereal. So quickly relieved. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring sure relief... safe prevention!

A naturally healthful cereal! To enjoy with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Recipes on package. Mix it with hot cereals. Sprinkle it into soups. Just eat two tablespoonsful in some form daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Its regular use will protect your family from the dangers of constipation.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective
ALL-BRAN is practically all roughage, or

Insist on genuine Kellogg's, the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diets. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Fads of Southern Importance Likely to Become Summer Fashions.

New York—Although a comparatively few of the millions of persons in the United States have the leisure to sun themselves at our fashionable resorts, the influence on fashion exercised by these resorts is one of vast proportions. What proves the winning color or combination of colors, silhouette, material and so on at these resorts, often becomes automatically a next summer fashion. It is therefore not merely for amusement that reports are read of what is worn at Palm Beach, which despite its various visitations of nature is still the most fashionable of all the southern beaches.

That every southern collection glows with red is one of the arresting facts, for while red occasionally is fashionable it is by no means a usual choice. Blues in nearly every shade but with more direct reference to the state or grey blues, periwinkle and so on also are rated high. Pastel tones especially with white are another featured combination including charming prints, with pastel motifs on a white ground. The printed evening dress is recruited for southern service, and black is momentarily forgotten in the excitement of discovering the charm of the printed taffeta, chiffon or satin gown. Appropriately enough all colors chosen to be accented with tanned complexion have the advantage. In the new beach models, the back is bared to the sun and in most sports models sleeves are omitted so that the sun's rays may be relied upon to supply the reaction to the stockinged fad will be still problematical. Hosiery manufacturers are frantically trying to create a demand for something so novel in stockings that women will not be tempted to go without them. Obviously the stocking which repeats the tone of the dress is one of the methods resorted to.

While white is a Palm Beach classic there are seasons when it suffers in contrast to color. This promises to be a season in which white assumes the lead. Egg shell and the so-called off-white shades have established themselves this winter and are not to be denied. Flattering chiffon frocks in fresh, youthful tones, notably green, in all probability will be the representative frocks of this season.

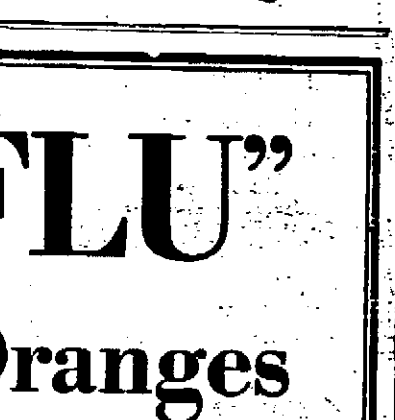

Among the several interesting cotton developments is the reappearance of gingham for smart morning frocks and what is perhaps more important ensembles. Check gingham always makes an appeal, and this year it is combined with velveteen jackets, and all sorts of unusual things which enhance its charm. At the moment one is inclined to hand the palm to colored plique, since every worthy collection includes it in frocks usually of the tailored and sleeveless persuasion. The percentage of one-piece models among sports frocks is greater than last season. Suits however have had a larger development and are now completed with organdie blouses or with tuck-ins, the most up-to-date term by which to designate what was once in the long ago a shirt-waist.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS

FOR CHILDREN
A testimonial from a lady in California, whose name will be given if requested.
"I have been using Mother Gray's Powders these last 15 years and all my friends and neighbors are using them just now during the 'flu.' They are fine for checking the fever. In 1918 I mailed them by the dollar boxes to Imperial Valley to a friend who was nursing down there during the 'flu.' Children who are troubled with constipation, feverishness, bowel trouble or take cold easily, get quick relief from these powders that Mothers have recommended for over 30 years.

Fight off "FLU" with Florida Oranges and Grapefruit

Florida rushing citrus fruits to epidemic cities—former President of Hahnemann Hospital, Chicago, tells here of protective measures FOREMOST physicians say that one of the quickest, most effective precautions against influenza known to modern medicine is to eat—and drink—citrus fruits and grapefruit plentifully. For citrus fruits turn alkaline in the system—build up the alkaline reserve that increases resistance to common colds, grippe and influenza. They provide vitamins and mineral salts that help the general health of the body—for oranges and grapefruit are one of the world's richest known sources of these vital food factors. They combat acidity—so often resulting from the usual heavy winter diet—acidity which is an internal enemy of the body, lowering normal resistance and inviting illness.

country, leading doctors everywhere are urging adults and children to take the precautionary health measures listed here to help fight the disease. Everybody, young and old, should have plentiful amounts of Florida Oranges and Grapefruit every day—several times a day. A glass of orange juice or half a grapefruit for breakfast is nowhere near enough. Serve Florida Oranges or Grapefruit at every meal—and in between times. The newest way for grapefruit is as a drink—squeezed right into the glass—chilled—sweetened a bit if preferred.

Start Citrus Protection Without Delay, Doctors Warn
Now, with the influenza epidemic raging in city after city throughout this

But in whatever form, remember that at this time Florida Oranges and Grapefruit are recommended urgently by modern doctors as one of the most important protective measures possible against the "flu" and other kindred illnesses.

This advertisement is sponsored by the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Ass'n, Winter Haven, Florida.

DR. DANIEL R. HODGDON, of New York, formerly President of the Hahnemann Hospital in Chicago, has successfully prevented colds and "flu" among 1100 children whose diets he now personally supervises. He says: "Too much stress cannot be laid upon the use of citrus fruits and fresh vegetables during any influenza epidemic. Each person should eat generous amounts of oranges and grapefruit, together with plenty of raw vegetables every day."

"Should you feel a cold coming on, an extra measure of protection is to drink the heated juice of a grapefruit just before retiring, in addition to the grapefruit and oranges you take several times during the day. There is no surer way of breaking up a cold or influenza. Avoid rich foods and over-eating. Get plenty of sleep, keep windows open. Keep house temperature even throughout the day, avoiding over-heating. Stay out of crowds if possible."

"If you feel ill, consult your physician immediately."

Acid Stomach May Lead to Gastric Ulcers

The immediate pain and sour burning caused by "too much acid" in the stomach is not nearly so serious as the trouble to which it may lead. Hyperacidity is caused by the secretion of excess hydrochloric acid (gastric juice), and as a result of its highly corrosive nature, to extremely liable, unless properly treated, to cause the inflammation of the stomach wall and as a consequence gastric ulcers and the gastric disorders.

The use of artificial digestants such as meat, or ordinary bicarbonate of soda do not temporarily relieve, but that is not the cure. To reach the cause, soothe and heal the inflamed stomach walls and restore perfect normal digestion more potent means are needed.

There is nothing better for the purpose than pure Bismarck Magnesia which drug stores everywhere now dispense in sealed packages of either powder or tablets. Just a little, after meals, gives instant relief, thereby permitting normal, peaceful digestion, and works at the same time to soothe and strengthen the acid inflamed stomach, thus giving a chance to recover normal and natural digestive power.

Your stomach is too valuable to trifling with. It needs the best help you can give. A real Bismarck Magnesia will prove a wonderful value beyond a doubt.

Playwrights and Plays Reviewed

There was an excellent attendance at the second group of lectures on Modern Drama and Modern Poetry, being given by Bruce Bennett of the New Paltz Normal School faculty, at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday afternoon, under the patronage of the Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. Mr. Bennett recalled to his hearers that the drama includes the playwright, the actors, the audience and the critics.

He began his list of modern dramas—and in this case those which will probably always be modern—with the plays of Ibsen, and he spoke at some length of both the playwright and his plays. George Bernard Shaw came next for consideration as a writer of plays, and then certain of his plays were talked over. Mr. Bennett is particularly interested in getting his audience to take up the reading of plays, and he has shown them just how to go about reading them so that they fairly see the action before them. John Galsworthy and his Old English came in for due consideration and then came J. M. Barrie, the whimsical writer. Mr. Bennett warned his audience in reading Barrie's plays to be very sure to read "the business" of these plays to enjoy them more vividly.

Coming finally to our own country and time, Mr. Bennett spent quite a bit of time with Eugene O'Neill and his dramas. First he gave a brief sketch of the life of O'Neill as indicative of what one might expect to find in his plays. Then he told of some of his plays which are as dramas as decided successful though quite as decidedly against all conservative dramatic technique, but he warned his hearers that O'Neill is still experimenting and is not therefore to be followed blindly. Susan Glaspell and "The Strange Interlude" was touched upon. Mr. Bennett also mentioned favorably Moody and his "Great Divide" and Augustus Thomas, who has written several strong plays.

The producers, most notably Belasco, also came in for interesting consideration by the lecturer. The third and last of the lectures on the Modern Drama will be given by Mr. Bennett next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

Cheap Hot Water Service for Every Home

Fragile glassware, delicate china, gleaming silver—into the dishpan they go and quickly emerge spotless if there's hot water in quantities foaming with clean soap suds. Pots and pans, the bugbears of dishwashing, lose their clinging grease and stickiness when hot water pours over them in steaming plenty. And with hot water for rinsing, the drying process takes no time at all.

Every home is now assured of an economical constant hot water supply. The Rex Patrol hot water heater can be attached to any boiler. An insulated cover goes over the boiler, preventing heat loss, and the Rex Patrol unit heats the water—it's like having a storage water system in the home. The Rex Patrol is inexpensive to buy and economical to operate. For a $2 down payment you have this hot water service in your home. Future payments extend over a period of two years—$2 on your monthly bill.

South's "Lost Cause"

"The Lost Cause" is a phrase which became current through the title of a history of the Civil war (1861) by E. A. Pollard. It is used as an expression designative for the purposes and aims which the Southern people, through the war, vainly sought to realize in the permanent establishment of the Confederate States of America.

Federated Council P.T. A. Meeting

The January meeting of the Federated Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held in Miss Cordes' room at the high school at the usual time. Mrs. R. H. D. Boesker, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Russell, who is ill. Miss Rose Dougherty of School No. 1 gave a very gratifying report of the card party held Monday evening, January 14, at Holy Cross parish house. Besides the pleasing sociability it afforded, a goodly sum of money was realized.

Mrs. H. P. Van Wageningen, chairman of the Sister County Women's Committee for Law Enforcement, addressed the meeting, giving the members an idea of the aims of the committee and the advantages derived from being a member of it.

In connection with the health campaign to be conducted in the schools, Mrs. Russell wished to urge all presidents of Parent-Teacher Associations to invite Dr. Crispell to speak before their members.

As Founder's Day, Feb. 17, occurs on Sunday this year, Monday the 18th was selected as the day of observance. Accordingly, elaborate plans for a birthday party are being formulated. A committee was appointed to wait upon the board of education to request the privilege of using the auditorium and gymnasium of the high school in the evening for the celebration. After roll call the meeting adjourned.

Special Oven for Pie

A huge brick oven was built in a disused corn mill near Huddersfield, England, so that the village of Denby Dale might surpass all its previous efforts in making plant pie. The pie dish, made locally of earthenware, was 15 feet long, 4 feet wide and 18 inches deep. The pie contained beef, mutton, kidney, potatoes and plenty of gravy. About 10,000 people partook of the pie. On the occasion of the last previous Denby Dale pie, in 1926, more than 60,000 people visited the village, which has a population of 1,500. A pie made in 1587 went bad, and was dragged by horses to a wood and buried in quicklime.

Toad's Marvelous Tongue

The Spanish toad that lives in the zoo has a tongue that moves faster than that of the busiest gossip. It moves so fast that observers could not see it pick up a worm placed before it recently. The worm simply disappeared, as if into the air. Furthermore, an ordinary slow motion camera failed to take a picture of that moving tongue. Another film was taken, this time at three times the speed, and in this the tongue was shown moving at a rate quicker than a sixtieth of a second, which means that if the Spanish toad could eat continuously he would devour nearly 4,000 meals a minute!

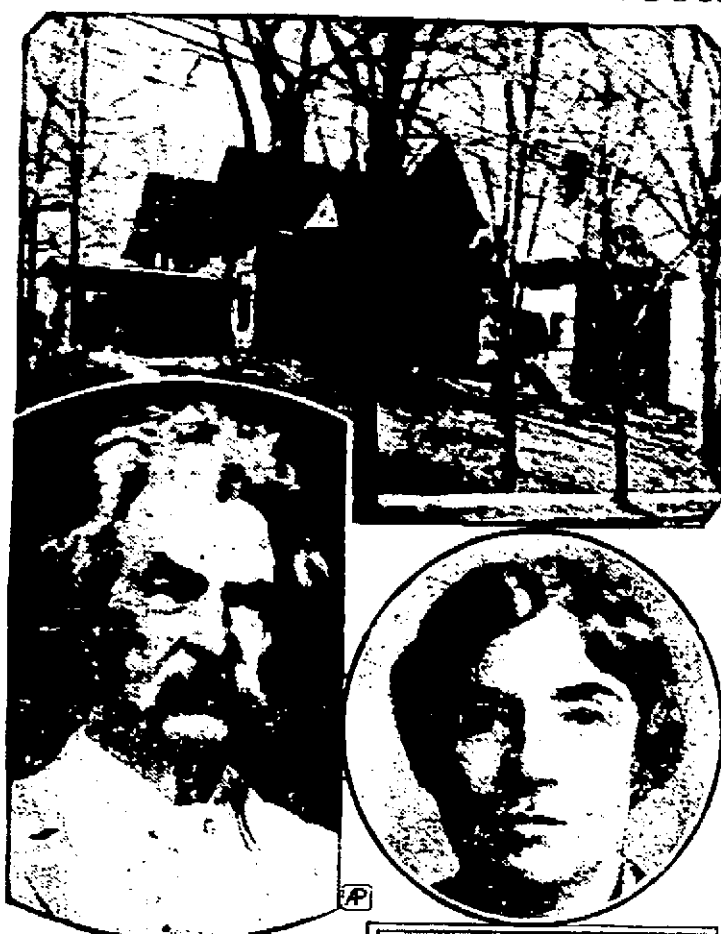

Land of Many Languages

The principal languages of Switzerland are German, spoken by 71 per cent of the people; French, by 21 per cent, and Italian, by 6 per cent. Other languages are Romansh and Latin. By the federal constitution of 1848 and 1874 German, French and Italian are recognized as national languages, so that debates in the federal parliament may be carried on in any of the three, while federal laws and decrees appear also in the three languages. The old dialects of Romansh and Latin do not have any political recognition by the confederation.

Mrs. Day is a descendant of Harriet Beecher Stowe, once Mark Twain's neighbor.

Archer's Steel Arrow

Nails Deer to Big Fir

Gig Harbor, Wash.—The archer of old brought down his deer, but J. H. McCaugham, of Olympia, shot an arrow which not only slew a buck but nailed him fast to the trunk of a large tree. One of the few men in the Northwest who has killed big game with the bow and arrow, McCaugham sighted a deer about to flee. Using a six-foot yew bow and steel-headed hunting arrow he shot the missile which killed the animal instantly. The arrow was driven three inches in the back of a fir preventing the buck from toppling over.

Hemaris Diffinis

The adults of this genus of hummingbird moths have wings from which part of the scales run off so early that they are almost never seen and these portions of the wings are therefore described as transparent. These adults have the unmistakable habit of flying in the bright sunlight and when hovering at flowers, they closely resemble hummingbirds. When flying it suggests a bumble bee. The larvae feed on relatives of the honeysuckle such as snowberry and viburnum. They usually pupate in fallen leaves and generally make a queer sort of cocoon.

Excavations will soon be continued at the old City of Akhanton.

"Black will treat you white"

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Garden City, N. Y.—The Right Rev. Charles E. Fiske, Protestant Episcopal bishop of central New York, fears the world is worshipping the "God of Prosperity," that modern American civilization "conceives God as a magnified materialism and practices unbridled commercialism as Christianity." He gave his views at the close of the province of New York, New Jersey and Porto Rico.

Chicago—The annual report of the Julius Rosenwald fund disclosed that since 1913 negro rural schools numbering 4,354 have been built in the south at a cost of more than $20,000,000. One-third of it came from the fund, the rest from negroes, whites and county governments.

Sao Paulo, Brazil—Nifty-dressing policemen here amaze tourists. For one thing they have white spats over high black boots; also long-tailed coats and Sam Browne belts with short swords.

New York—The bar seems to be losing and the ring gaining a good lawyer. Seymour Agard, 10, appeared in traffic court for his ill father. So good was his plea that sentence was suspended. "I suppose you're going to be a lawyer," remarked the magistrate. No," said Seymour. "I want to be a prize fighter. There's more money in it."

Chicago—Grand Duke Alexander has two pairs of shoes with him on a lecture tour, one black, one tan. He had none at all for some hectic moments while many folks waited to see him. He had to sit in a hotel room in stocking feet. A bootblack had forgotten.

London—At least 34 Englishmen now at home have been on explorations in the Antarctic. They have formed a dinner club.

Lincoln, Neb.—Railroads must be careful about snakes in their round-houses. Allowing a verdict of $28,000 for a workman bitten in an engine pit, the state supreme court overruled the railroad's contention that snake-bite was a common risk of mankind; it held there was a difference between nature's invitation to snake-bite and artificial creations confined to a place of business activity.

Paris—Jean LaForge, restaurateur and clarinet soloist, has a prodigy in the family. His son, 3½ years old, plays the violin and nine other instruments. When 14 months old he hummed.

Influenza Much Milder This Year Than In 1918

But Vicks Laboratories Again Operating Night and Day to Supply Record-Making Demand.

Although the type of flu this year is not so serious as in 1918, health authorities are urging everybody to treat even the slightest cold at the start, as colds lower the resistance and make the body an easy prey to bronchitis or pneumonia.

An interesting response to this warning has been the phenomenal call for Vicks VapoRub, the external treatment which proved so helpful in the 1918 epidemic.

In spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks laboratories are once more operating all night long and are now producing 375,000 jars daily. A substantial part of this increase is attributed to the widespread use of Vicks as a preventive.

Earth's Crust

The thickness of the earth's crust has been variously computed to be 10, 20 or more miles. Observations on earthquake motion by Milne and others indicated that the rocky material may extend for some 30 miles. Recent researches in regard to the radio-active substances present in rocks suggest that the crust is not more than 30 miles thick.

Scathe Doomed Shark by Tickling Its Hide

Few of us would like to tackle the tiger of the seas in his native haunts, but the brown men of Allakali in the Southern seas have no such scruples. There, in the calm emerald waters of the lagoon, fringed about with waving palms are great hollows in the coral rocks; here, during the hottest hours of the day, the sharks love to bask in the welcome shade.

Ten feet of shark lies snug within the shadow, only a slowly waving tail protruding his presence. Then out from the beach creeps a canoe, with a rope of silver ready coiled. Silently the Kanakas paddle to the spot, where deep down in the clear water that starry-gray tail moves slowly.

Tucked for a moment while he inhales a deep breath, the brown man waits, the loop of the rope over his arm. Then, in a beautiful curve, he dives. Now he is beside the shark and his hand softly rubs the rasping hide. The shark likes it.

Suddenly the noose is fixed over the flukes of the tail, and a brown form is seen scrambling quickly over the gunwale of the canoe.

Then comes a rapid paddling of the frail craft, the line is hauled in and the shark is effectively dispatched with a blow of a club.

Difficulties of Life

Have Their Purposes

Very rare are those who have always had their every wish fulfilled or forestalled; but even these should not be envied.

Man is not made to live in perpetual sunshine, and would very soon tire of having all his desires, without having to wait and work for the materialization of his longings. The greater the ease of obtaining what he wants—the sooner it would pall upon him.

Life's difficulties and prolonged trials, says the London Chronicle, are a test of character. If we had no difficulties to overcome and our patience were not tried, we might continue to exist—but our claim to be called "men" and "women" would be slender.

Though we often groan under its weight, we should "respect the burden," and thus retain our cheerfulness and serenity.

Houses in Patriotic Hue

With all the house painting now going on so busily in city and country, the elders who as boys or girls lived on a farm will smile as they contrast the quiet colors used today with the vivid ones common to their youth. Blue and red were favorite colors then. They were the cheapest paints the farmers could buy and mix, except for a standard white.

Barn doors were invariably one of these two colors. A blue pump clashed with the green grass in the door yard. A blue wooden weather-vane rooster swung lazily on a red-roofed barn. Houses were mostly white, but for many years blue and red trimmings were much in favor. In many sections the countryside presented a decidedly patriotic appearance.

Marshal Foch Is Improving

Paris, Jan. 18 (AP).—Marshal Ferdinand Foch was so much better today that his doctors actually were talkative when they left his bedside after a consultation of two hours.

"His heart is better and much stronger," said Professor Lauby. "I am satisfied with the improvement in the condition of the kidneys," said Dr. Heitz-Boyer.

"And you may say for me that I found the marshal's general condition somewhat better this morning," chimed in Foch's regular physician, Dr. Davenieres.

Oh, Daniel

A big-game hunter in Rhodesia tracked down a lion and wounded it. The beast turned on him, bent him to the ground, and was about to finish him off when the flap of the hunter's collar turned over.

Instantly the lion bounded off into the bush.

Wondering at his miraculous escape, the hunter looked down at his collar. He saw, on the inside, his name: "Daniel!"

Mental Processes

A mother was counseling her little daughter into taking some medicine that evidently was rather of unpleasant taste, saying:

"I don't like to take medicine any better than you do, but I just make up my mind to do it, and then I do." "Yes, mother, and I just make up my mind that I won't take it and I don't." The little girl won her point.

POSSIBLE SECOND INFLUENZA OUTBREAK CONSIDERED BY OFFICIALS

Second Epidemic in 1918 Was Worse Than First—Plan to Combat This Menace Now.

Public health officials have already been considering plans with a view to prevent a possible second and more serious wave of influenza. For the week ending Dec. 15 the percentage of cases in the United States was as great as at the peak of epidemic in 1920. In 1918 influenza and pneumonia were directly responsible for 500,000 deaths.

Local People Warned to Play Safe—Quick Action Necessary. Do not be careless about colds, no matter how slight, for a cold immediately lowers the body resistance, making it more possible for influenza germs to enter the system.

Shriners Plan For Dance Music

Negotiations have been under way for some time by the entertainment committee of the Kingston Shriners Association to secure the services of one of the finest society dance orchestras which is now so popular at all society affairs in New York city for their annual entertainment and ball to be held in the armory on Wednesday evening, January 26, for the benefit of the Industrial Home. They expect to be able to announce definitely in a few days the name of the organization they will bring to Kingston.

The Shriners pay particular attention to the music, which accounts in a very large measure for the phenomenal success of their affairs at their dances but also to those who do not dance.

Some of the highest class acts direct from Broadway are being secured to precede the general dancing. The Shriners are justly famed for the excellent talent which they have on their programs and this year will prove no exception.

There will not be a dull moment from the opening of the armory doors until they are closed. Everyone is urged to spend a night of delight with the Shriners.

and by so doing help in a very real way that most worthy institution, the Industrial Home.

Increase Shown By Home-Seekers

The Home-Seekers' Cooperative Savings and Loan Association of 2 East Strand has issued its semi-annual report for the period ending December 31, 1924. The report shows an increase of $68,696 since July 1, and an increase of 1,394 shares outstanding; during the six months' period covered by the report, mortgage loans were made to the amount of $189,000, mostly on farms. The usual dividend at the rate of six per cent per annum has been declared and credited to all installment share holders as of January 1.

The Home-Seekers was organized in 1889, forty years ago, for the purpose of furnishing loans to its members for the purchase or erection of homes and to serve as a medium to its members for the accumulation of their savings. Like all cooperative savings and loan associations, the Home-Seekers is under the supervision of the State Banking Department and is compelled to set aside at least five per cent of its earnings as a reserve fund; the Home-Seekers' reserve fund is now over $26,500.

Associations of this kind offer their members a unique plan for the systematic accumulation of their savings. Membership is open to everyone and subscriptions may be made for any number of shares. An entrance fee of 25 cents is charged on each share and one dollar must be deposited on each share every month until the shares mature or are withdrawn. Deposits must be made on or before the first Monday of the month, or fines of 2 per cent are added. Members may withdraw any time. Four-fifths of the accrued dividends, in addition to their deposits, are paid to withdrawing members. Full dividends are paid only on matured shares. Shares mature to $200 after about 140 monthly deposits have been made.

Members wishing to purchase or erect homes can borrow from 50 to 75 per cent of the value of the property, depending on location and character. The loan is repaid by the member paying the monthly deposits on the number of shares in the association that at maturity will equal the amount borrowed. Interest on the loan is also payable monthly, at the same time as the payment on the shares, and is $5 on each $1,000 borrowed, making a total monthly payment of $10 per $1,000. In twelve years or less the shares mature, the home is paid for and the member is out of debt. Hundreds of homes have been acquired in this way through this association.

A new series of shares is opened by the Home-Seekers every six months; the next one starts on Monday, February 4. Subscriptions are now being received at the association's office, and persons wishing to take shares are invited to call.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

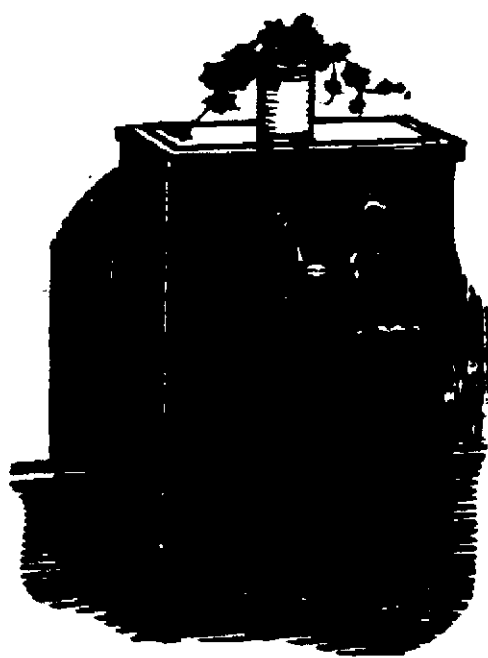

Announcing the NEW ELECTRO-DYNAMIC!

Of course you want an Electro-Dynamic set. Of course you want it to be an Atwater Kent. Now you can have it—and in your choice of table model or all-in-one set (completely Atwater Kent). And, as always, at the most moderate price for which fine radio can be purchased.

THE Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic!

The whole range of the grand organ or a full orchestra—the new Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic captures everything and reproduces everything. Its all-comprehensive realism you will appreciate instantly.

And this new radio is just as faithful to the human voice as it is to musical instruments. It no more suggests mechanical reproduction than does the trill of a lark. The singer, or announcer, or actor in a radio play, is—himself. You can't ask more than that!

MODEL 53. Electro-Dynamic all-in-one set. Compact lacquered cabinet. Fits so beautifully anywhere. Without tubes, $117.

Do you like to enjoy an orchestra or play from the best seat in the house? It's like that! Do you like to pick out the individual instruments and follow them as they weave their golden fabric? You can!

Do you like deep richness of tone? Do you like to hear the bass viol, the tuba and the drums—the hum-buzz of an orchestra—sound like the real thing—without over-emphasis anywhere?

As the music climbs from the caverns of the basses to the heights that only the violin and the piccolo can reach—do you want to know you are missing nothing?

Not only does the new Atwater Kent give you all this with finer, truer tone and ample volume made possible by Electro-Dynamic reproduction. It is—as you would expect from Atwater Kent—a very simple instrument. One cord to a lamp socket brings electricity to both receiver and speaker. One switch (on the receiver) turns everything on or off.

The Atwater Kent laboratory—which gave radio the true one dial, the compact, shielding case and so many other improvements—has worked a long time in perfecting the Electro-Dynamic. It was determined to achieve not just MODEL 46, the new all-electric receiver. Lacquer finished. Full-vision Dial. Uses 7 A. C. tubes and 1 rectifying tube, with double power tube stage. Without tubes, $83.

MODEL F2 (Electro-Dynamic) speaker. True to the whole range of music, $34.

another example of the Electro-Dynamic principle but the perfection of it.

When the laboratory engineers said: "Here it is. It's what we wanted," the factory found out how this new set could be made at an Atwater Kent price—which always means the very lowest price for fine radio.

And here it is! Compact. Good looking. Electrically, mechanically, and acoustically as good an instrument as can be. Made with Atwater Kent precision. Durable. Reliable. Perfected.

Your ears will tell you there is no finer reception. Your knowledge of values will tell you that only the demand for Atwater Kent Radio (now in more than 2,000,000 homes) could make possible such a price.

With the winter not yet half over, with evening after evening and year after year of entertainment yet to come, you just can't afford not to see and hear the Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic. Do it! Enjoy yours now.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—The stock market gave an impressive demonstration of strength today in the face of a further increase in brokers' loans to around record-high levels. Weakness developed in a few high-priced specialties but the general list moved upward with scores of issues lifted 2 to 13 points above yesterday's final quotations. Trading was fairly heavy, several blocks of 5,000 to 35,000 shares changing hands, indicating strong pool support.
A flood of new money appeared and the call money renewal rate was marked down to 6 per cent. Business news continued generally favorable. The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation announced that it had acquired a block of vacuum oil in exchange for some French oil securities. Prospects of stock splits stimulated bullish activity in several high-priced specialties, Johns-Manville scoring an extreme gain of 13 points to a new high record at $113.
International Nickel, new stock, 53 1/2 points higher and then extending its gain to 7 1/2 by touching a new high record at 61 1/2. National Cash Register ran up more than 5 points to a new high at 107 1/2 on reports of business expansion and increased earnings. Spiegel May Stern, Greene-Cannessa Copper, Radio and Electric Auto Lite sold 5 to 7 points higher.
U. S. Steel common returned to the leadership by climbing 3 points to 175, a new high price for the present stock. Standard Plate Glass advanced 3 points in response to announcement of an increased tariff on glass. Public Utilities were in brisk demand with People's Gas, American Water Works and American Power & Light in the forefront of the advance.
Canadian Pacific, with a gain of nearly 6 points, was the leader in the railroad group.

Chase of Newcomb Garage Fire.
Thursday afternoon's fire in the garage of the Newcomb Oil Corporation at Kingston Point occurred while employees were busy at work on a pump when one of the men tripped over an extension cord to which an electric light bulb had been attached, causing the bulb to fall and break. In breaking the bulb set fire to a small quantity of gasoline, and the fire spread rapidly. All of the big trucks in the garage were gotten out with the exception of one, which was badly damaged. The quick response of the fire department prevented the fire from spreading and it was confined to the garage in which it originated.

Three Industrial League Games on Y. M. C. A. Court

In the Industrial League games played at the Y. M. C. A. court Thursday night, the Central Hudson team beat Schillings, 61 to 23, Brighams took their hard fought battle from the Artistics, 22 to 20, and Hercules won their well played game from the Silk Mills, 41 to 20.

Harring all individual playing the Brighams team posed out the Artistics in the final minutes of play. The Brighams aggregation fought from the beginning to the end and their efforts were rewarded. Through out the first quarter the winners caged them fast and steady, and at half time were in front of a 21 to 14 tally.

In the third period the Artistics, in spite of the fact that they lacked team work, gradually crept up on their opponents' lead. When the end of the third quarter came they were within striking distance of the Brighams' lead. The brickmakers managed to keep the upper hand until the last few minutes of the game. The tally was 29 to 28 in the Artistics favor when M. Tiano sunk a field goal. The Artistics now had plenty of chance to regain the lead when they were fouled frequently. However just before the whistle sounded M. Tiano again scored a deuce which left the Artistics in the background, 32 to 30.

The Central Hudson got the jump in the early part of their game with Schilling and taking the lead held it throughout the entire contest. The Schillings' defense couldn't seem to hold the Central Hudson pass work. Smith and Hoffman caged them from all angles of the court while Williams of Schillings did their best scoring. At the half the tally was 29 to 11 in favor of the Central Hudson representatives. In the second half Schillings had no signs of rallying while the winners kept up their steady scoring. When the game ended Central Hudson was well in front, 61 to 23.

In the last game of the night the Hercules team fought hard to keep their record intact. The Silk Mills kept in the race all throughout the first half keeping within a point or two of the Hercules' lead, the score being 19 to 18. In the second half although the Hercules team kept in the lead they had a tough time keeping their opponents from scoring. The game was nip and tuck up until the last few minutes, when the Hercules team went on a scoring rampage. Every man on the winning team was scoring and when the final whistle blew Hercules had the lead by a safe margin, 44 to 20.

Chandlers Lose, Y's Men Victors

Playing at Yonkers Thursday night the Chandlers dropped a 21-26 game to the Yonkers Y. M. C. A. team and the Y's Men of Kingston succeeded in overcoming the second team of the down-river "Y" to the tune of 42-37.

The Schenectady Y. M. C. A. basketball team, champions of the Northeastern District of the "Y" in 1926, will oppose the Chandlers at the local Y. M. C. A. Saturday night at 9 o'clock. The Chandlers, representing the Kingston "Y" in the Northeastern District championship games during the 1927-28 season defeated the Schenectady team by six points in the finals.

Of course it is needless to say that the Chandlers copped the championship that season and became famous as far west as Cleveland, Ohio, to which place they toured to play in the country-wide tournament of the Y. M. C. A. The Schenectady boys are eager to scalp the Kingston team, which means that the Saturday night game will be a thriller.

In order that the Chandler-Schenectady game may be played at 9 o'clock as scheduled, the Senior Sunday School Basketball League games will be played at 7 and 8 o'clock. These tilts are usually staged one hour later, so fans who desire to see a full evening of basketball are advised to drop around to the "Y" as early as possible. Undoubtedly there will be a great demand for seats, which should also tend to bring the fans out early.

Mercantiles' Bowling Scores

Declares Act Will Be Amended

Attorney Arthur B. Ewig has received a reply to his recent letter to Senator Arthur H. Wicks, wherein he urges legislative action making it impossible for judgment debtors to be summoned from their home county to any other county of the state for the purpose of being examined. At present a judgment debtor can be required to travel to any county for examination.

Following is a copy of the letter received by Attorney Ewig from Senator Wicks:

The Senate of the State of New York Albany January 15, 1929.

Mr. Arthur B. Ewig, 12 E. Strand, Kingston, New York.

My dear Mr. Ewig:

I have taken up the matter of an amendment to the Civil Practice Act to which you refer in your recent letter and can assure you that this Act will be amended satisfactorily at once.

Yours very truly, ARTHUR H. WICKS.

Lindy's Admiring Public Floods Him With Gifts

St. Louis, Mo.—Many of the odd gifts received at the office of the Missouri Historical society here for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh have not been placed on exhibition in Jefferson Memorial. They are being held for Colonel Lindbergh's inspection and disposition if he cares to make use of them.

Among the articles of wearing apparel sent the aviator by an admiring public are a gray business suit with two pairs of trousers, a pair of golf knicker made of patchwork pieces in tones of dark gray and red, two pairs of white embroidered overalls, two pairs of pajamas, one yellow and the other blue; a Shetland wool sweater, six suits of underwear, a hat, six pairs of silk socks, five ties, two pairs of fur-lined gloves, a pair of embroidered suspenders, and six sets of crocheted washcloths with matching towels.

In addition, the transatlantic flyer has received a shaving outfit, fourteen cans of mechanics' soap, a bottle of cordial, a rubber coat, and a portable typewriter.

Duce's Plea for More Italians Is Answered

Rome.—Triplets and twins have driven Premier Mussolini in to tactfulness.

Hitherto it has been the duce's pleasing custom to send an autographed picture of himself to parents who presented the infant with a pair or three of a kind. In one month, however, Rome reported two sets of triplets, while Brescia, Florence and Foggia announced one each. Twins have become so common that no further score is kept of them.

Premier Mussolini ordered a general circular sent to all provinces setting forth that requests for his photograph could no longer be honored.

Last Stone Laid on Lehigh University Laboratory on Second Anniversary of Gift

Just two years after the gift was announced, to the very day, the final stone was laid on the Packard Laboratory of electrical and mechanical engineering at Lehigh University. It was announced on January 14, 1927, that James Ward Packard, the late automobile manufacturer, had given his Alma Mater a million dollars to build the structure pictured above. On January 14 of this year, the final stone of this building, atop the west tower, was laid as shown in the insert.

This structure occupying an area equal to a city block is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy next fall. The cost of the building and equipment will be $1,200,000.

Reception at Fair Street Church

In spite of the inclement weather there was a large gathering of the people of the Fair Street Reformed Church at the reception tendered Thursday evening to the new members of the church and to those who had been privileged to pass their eightieth birthday. Of the latter there were present Mrs. Helen Harrison, Major James Pierce, Peter H. Osterhoudt and Mrs. Elsie DeGraff, while J. C. Mould was represented by Mrs. Mould. The total ages of the twelve guests of honor had been 1,067 years. Mrs. Josephine Chipm has been a member of the church for 68 years. While Peter H. Osterhoudt is the older man, Charles C. Ten Broeck has been longest service in the church, having been a member for 63 years, and Mr. Osterhoudt a member for 60 years.

In spite of sickness in families, 26 of the 41 new members of the church were present and to each guest of honor Dr. Seeley after a most affectionate greeting and welcome to his people on the happy occasion, presented a copy of William Lyon Phelps's beautiful article just written, entitled "Love." In response to Dr. Seeley, Mr. Osterhoudt, made a short but very pleasing address, with reminiscences of past days in the Fair Street Reformed Church's history.

Then there were greatly appreciated musical numbers by the church choir, with solos by Mrs. Wicks and Mr. Malnes.

Following the program the members of the Ladies Aid Society served ice cream and cake and every one thoroughly enjoyed a social hour.

Upper Room Mission Service. Tonight at the Upper Room Mission Service the Rev. C. V. W. Bedford will speak on the theme "Moody and Sankey, why these men of God kept the Christian Sabbath." During the coming week chimes will be installed in the Upper Room Mission. These chimes were manufactured by the famous Deagan Company of Chicago, makers of the finest organ chimes in the world. With their sweet tones they will be an added attraction.

WHY "Fox Terrier" Is No Longer Used to Hunt Foxes

Why the name fox terrier? Simple enough—Le went to earth (terra, as the Romans put it) after foxes 100 years or so ago. That was the job for which he was developed, and he fulfilled it with honors, says the Washington Post.

But the fox terrier of today, in the smooth as well as the rough-coated varieties, has largely dropped his original work. Not because of any want of courage on his part, but rather because of changing conditions in England, the country of his origin.

The fox hunting enthusiasts began to breed their hounds and horses for greater speed; the stocky little terrier couldn't stay with the chase until his chance came to go to earth after the fox. Then his friends tried putting more speed into him by giving him longer legs, but they did it at the expense of his stamina and general underground hunting qualities. And finally, foxes became less numerous, and when the hound pack did run one to earth it was considered proper to leave him there so that he might live to run another day.

It would have been an irreparable loss to the dog world if the fox terrier had sunk into oblivion with the setting of his bright particular hunting star, for he is much too attractive and healthy a little rascal for us even to contemplate the thought of losing him. Indeed, his admirers have made him even more popular than in the old days of fighting foxes, and he has become standardized as an all-around small dog that is guaranteed to win his way into the coldest and hardest of hearts.

Why Snake Protrudes Tongue Is a Mystery

Many people believe that snakes sting with their tongues. This, of course, is not true, the tongue of a snake being perfectly harmless. The continual motion of this organ doubtless has some sensory significance, but its nature is not yet fully understood, according to Waldo L. McAtee, a biologist of the United States bureau of biological survey. Apparently the long, delicate, forked tongue enables the snake to feel its way over the ground. The projecting of the snakes tongue, says Dr. William Mann, director of the National Zoological park at Washington, "is supposed to be sensory in function. It has been suggested that the sense of smell is present, to some extent, in the snake's tongue, though I do not believe this has been very well substantiated."

Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles at the New York zoological parks asserts: "The tongue of the snake is an extremely sensitive organ, and serves to trace scents over the ground by taste. It also is sensitive to sound vibrations."

Why Beards Have Value

The United States public health service has discovered that unshaven skin is less susceptible to the penetrating powers of the virus of the fever tick that causes Rocky Mountain spotted fever than freshly shaven skin. In view of this it is likely that whiskers will come into fashion in the Bitter Root valley of Montana. The health service has been studying the dreaded disease in the valley for the last 20 years. The valley is one of the few places in this country afflicted with the disease. Between seventy-five and one hundred fifty cases of spotted fever develop there every year. The death rate among the victims of the fever is about 90 per cent. Montana has appropriated $12,000 for fighting the disease. This will be used largely for manufacturing a vaccine treatment recently developed by Dr. R. H. Spencer after many years of research.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why Trees Need Water

An average size oak or elm bears each season approximately 5,000,000 leaves, according to scientists. Patched together, these leaves would cover five acres, and they are continually giving off moisture—perspiring, you might say.

On a fairly hot dry day, for every 1,000,000 leaves about a ton of water will be given off. Therefore, you can see what need trees have of water. Water, air and a few minerals that are in the ground—which minerals the tree imbibes, thinly diluted in its water, are what build a great tree.

The roots of almost all trees, extend as widely and as deeply as the branches and leaves; to have a certain amount of leaves and branches you must have a corresponding amount of roots to nourish them.
